

Assignment 1

1. A app that i have thought about is one that will help build financial literacy for individuals in America that can later be used for other countries as well. This will be primarily with new immigrants to help them know some of the available oppurtunities in america that they might not have had in their home country. It would come in different languages and help them find resources aimed at their previous heritage.
2. The app could ask for donations from individuals who were helped by the app and also contributions from organizations that would help those individuals and can use the app as advertising.
3. I like facebook's UI/UX because its relatively easy to use, has tutorials, and makes it quite easy to report any problems that you encounter. I also like the way in which it customizes things depending on what region your in, what you browse through, and who or what you interact with.
4. Yes, The previous class discussion definetly helped me to come up with some possible app ideas for my project. I'm still thinking about which one would be an app that i'd be able to complete before the end of this semester. The discussion definitely helped me focus an narrow down what I would want to do.
